IDP Foundation, Impact Evaluation Sesame Workshop’s Techniques for Effective Teaching Project in Ghana, 2017-2020. The Ghana Sesame Workshop’s (SW) Techniques for Effective Teaching (TFET) program is supported by the IDP Foundation, Inc. (IDPF) and will be implemented in low-fee private schools in the IDP Rising Schools Program in Ghana. NORC is conducting impact evaluation focusing on Kindergarten and Primary 2 learners, and teachers. In addition, NORC is assessing quality of training implementation and utilization of new teaching techniques. Dr. Menendez serves as Senior Evaluation Advisor.

USAID/Uganda Performance and Impact Evaluation of Literacy Achievement and Retention Activity, 2016-2021. The Literacy Achievement and Retention Activity (LARA) in Uganda is supported by USAID and focuses on Early Grade Reading and School Related Gender Based Violence (SRGBV) in primary institutions. Dr. Menendez serves as the Evaluation Specialist and Impact Evaluation Lead and leads the team in defining appropriate performance and impact evaluation methodologies and data collection tools for the LARA evaluations, and oversees all methodological aspects of the impact evaluation, taking primary responsibility for all related design, implementation, and analysis tasks.

USAID-Multiple Countries, Reading and Access Evaluation 2014-2021. This large-scale project involves evaluation of multiple programs in several countries. Interventions to be evaluated focus on early reading and access to education in areas of conflict or crisis. Dr. Menendez serves as the Principal Investigator and Evaluation Expert for the projects and therefore oversees technical and methodological aspects of the evaluations. Evaluations in Zambia, Ethiopia, Nepal, South Africa, Kenya, Liberia, Tanzania, Peru, Morocco, Guatemala, Honduras and Malawi. Research work on Incentives in Education, Parental and Community Involvement in Education, and Alternative Learning Programs.

Gates Foundation, India, Digital storytelling to empower youth and engender change in Uttar Pradesh. 2015-2019 The project seeks to address disparities in family planning outcomes for youth ages 15-24 by accelerating learning on gender inequalities, identifying avenues for intervention, and implementing and evaluating solutions. The focus is adolescent sexual and reproductive health outcomes, which are defined as both contraceptive services and the proximal and distal determinants of their delivery and uptake. Dr. Menendez serves in the capacity of evaluation lead and co-PI.

USAID-Republic of Georgia, Georgia Primary Education (G-PriEd) 2014-2016. Dr. Menendez served in the capacity of a senior advisor to the project, providing methodological guidance in all aspects of the impact evaluation. She worked closely with the Principal Investigator in developing the most rigorous analytic methodologies to address research questions of interest, and guiding the impact analysis.

USAID/Uganda Performance and Impact Evaluation of the School Health and Reading Project, 2012-2017. The School Health and Reading Program (SHRP) in Uganda is supported by USAID and focuses on Early Grade Reading and HIV and AIDS education in primary and post primary institutions. NORC is conducting impact and performance evaluations of SHRP Project using the most rigorous experimental and quasi-experimental methods and best practices. Dr. Menendez serves as the Chief of Party and Evaluation Expert in this project and she is responsible for technical and methodological leadership and oversight of all evaluation activities, including the design of a mixed-method impact evaluation, sampling, oversight of data collection activities, and analysis.

MCC Ghana Impact Evaluation Services, 2010-2015. MCC has contracted with NORC to assess the impact of up to five activities under the MCC Program in Ghana. These activities include: post-harvest infrastructure, irrigation, and credit activities under the program's Agriculture Project; and Education and Financial Services activities under its Rural Development Project. Dr. Menendez serves as the Evaluation Expert and Technical Team Lead on this project. As such, she is responsible for all aspects of the design, implementation, and analysis related to the impact evaluations, which will take the form of quasi-experimental designs.
